

Estes Thorne & Carr Attorneys Once Again Recognized by Texas Rising Stars

DALLAS – Dallas litigation boutique Estes Thorne & Carr is pleased to announce that firm attorneys Katherine Anand, Lindsay Daye Barbee, and Terah Moxley are among those honored on the 2018 list of Texas Rising Stars.

This is the sixth consecutive year Katie has been selected based on her business litigation work. When problems arise in professional relationships, Katie is there to help solve them. In addition, she provides her clients with deep knowledge and experience in a wide range of issues, from financial service claims to construction litigation. She earned her law degree from the Notre Dame Law School.

Lindsay is being honored for the third time by Texas Rising Stars for her work in family law. As a family law attorney, Lindsay recognizes the great trust placed in her by her clients. With an understanding that the problems they face are often complex and never exactly alike, she eschews the one-size-fits-all approach to the law and instead looks for individual solutions for individual people. She earned her law degree from the Southern Methodist University Dedman School of Law.

Terah, recognized for her employment litigation defense work, is making her first appearance on the Rising Stars list. Board certified in Labor and Employment Law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization, she uses her expertise to defend employers from claims of discrimination, harassment, and other employment-related issues. Terah has represented plaintiffs and defendants alike in matters including trade secrets, Title VII, the Family and Medical Leave Act, and the Americans with Disabilities Act. She earned her law degree from Baylor Law School, graduating first in her class.

No more than 2.5 percent of attorneys in the state are chosen for Texas Rising Stars each year. They are age 40 or younger or have practiced law for 10 years or less. Selection involves a rigorous process beginning with nominations by other lawyers. The full list will be published in the April 2018 issues of Texas Monthly and the Texas Rising Stars issue of Super Lawyers magazine.

Celebrating the firm's 10th year, Estes Thorne & Carr's collaborative team of highly experienced attorneys represents clients in commercial litigation, family law, labor and employment, products liability, ERISA litigation, real estate, and healthcare litigation. A Women's Business Enterprise National Council-certified business, Estes Thorne & Carr is one of the largest women-owned law firms in the Southwest. Estes Thorne & Carr PLLC is located at 3811 Turtle Creek Blvd., Suite 2000, Dallas, Texas, 75219.
